Dismissal Reinstatement Spring 2020 Information

Overview
This information is for students who received a letter from the Registrar at the end of Fall 2019 term discussing your academic standing. If your letter indicates that you have been academically dismissed and lists “Dismissal Reinstatement” as an option, you are invited to participate in a new pilot program called Dismissal Reinstatement. Dismissal Reinstatement represents a pilot change in the UT dismissal policy, allowing continued enrollment (not having to sit out or remain away from UT) for students who meet certain academic criteria.

Dismissal Reinstatement allows students to continue enrollment at UT, but it does not return students to their original college; catalog statements from the colleges of Engineering, Nursing, Business, Architecture or Education declare that a student dismissed while in that college cannot return to that college. If you have been in one of those colleges, you must seek another program of study outside of that college.

The goal of Dismissal Reinstatement is to help you become a better student (increasing your skills and awareness) and improve your results (GPA repair and return to Good Standing). Dismissal Reinstatement requires your participation in resource engagement (such as academic coaching and academic support workshops), scheduled at the start of Spring term.

Eligibility & Participation
Students who are dismissed at the end of Fall 2019 and who meet the following criteria are invited to participate in this pilot program:

- no previous academic dismissals; and
- a minimum cumulative GPA of 1.50 or higher; and
- 15 or fewer deficiency points.

To participate in this program, you must submit the online Dismissal Reinstatement enrollment form by noon on Thursday, January 2nd. You must be advised (even if you’ve had a prior advising appointment) by January 7th.

Requirements
The goal of this program is to provide you an opportunity to make significant changes that will positively impact your academic progress here at UT. Because you are a UT student, we know you are capable of success. The requirements below are intended to help you in this pursuit.

To participate in the Dismissal Reinstatement program, you must agree to:
• Meet with an academic advisor by January 7th to plan or rework your Spring 2020 schedule. Because your Dismissal may have changed things, this must be a new meeting (not one you had during this previous term).

• Meet with an academic coach or attend an SSC Workshop monthly throughout the term (four times during the semester) as you carry out your recovery plan. Students attending workshops must attend at least one academic coaching appointment. See the end of the letter for deadlines and workshop dates.

• Engage course-specific resources (office hours and tutoring, for instance) in a teachable, pro-active manner.

• Check UT email regularly for communication from the University and respond promptly to requests from the Student Success Center related to Dismissal Reinstatement.

To continue uninterrupted enrollment in future semesters (beyond Spring 2020), you must achieve one of the following at the end of Spring 2020 term:

• Return to Good Standing, allowing you to continue enrollment in Good Standing; or,

• Earn at least a 2.30 Term GPA, allowing you to continue enrollment on Academic Probation. To continue uninterrupted enrollment thereafter, you would need at least a 2.30 Term GPA in subsequent semesters until you return to Good Standing.

Cautions and Possible Hazards
Although Dismissal Reinstatement offers students a unique opportunity to avoid dismissal and continue enrollment, you should participate only if you are able to give full attention to your coursework. Students who are not fully ready (mentally, emotionally, and financially) to continue coursework put themselves in danger of digging a deeper academic hole for themselves. While participation in this program may sound far more preferable than dismissal, it is exceedingly important that your next semester of enrollment be a successful one; if you are not in a position (mentally, emotionally, financially) to succeed this summer or fall, participation in the Reinstatement program could possibly further harm your academic record and lead to greater financial debt.

Similarly, if you are not willing to engage tutoring, office hours, coaching and advising, now is not the time to return. Active engagement of resources is required and expected within the Dismissal Reinstatement program and is not optional.

Next Steps toward Enrollment
As discussed above, if your academic standing letter from the Registrar listed Dismissal Reinstatement as an option, apply for reinstatement by submitting the online Dismissal Reinstatement enrollment form. That form will be approved provided you have no existing holds on your account (holds typically fall into two categories: financial, for which you would see One Stop, and disciplinary/behavioral, for which you would see the office of Student Conduct and Community Standards). All holds on your account must be cleared by January 2nd for you to participate in Dismissal Reinstatement and be enrolled for Spring 2020.

When you are reinstated for Spring 2020, actively take the following steps which are open to you just as they would have been if you had not been dismissed:

- One Stop. Contact One Stop about administrative needs, particularly if financial aid is important to you.
  - Students facing dismissal at the end of their second semester of UT enrollment will need to file an appeal (such as an SAP appeal for Satisfactory Academic Progress) to maintain certain aspects of their financial aid. Because an SAP appeal requires an academic plan formulated by you and your academic advisor, it is important that you have this conversation with One Stop prior to meeting with your academic advisor!
  - Dismissal Reinstatement opens the door to regular Spring 2020 enrollment. There is no difference between a Dismissal Reinstatement student and any other UT undergraduate student with regards to tuition or other costs and options (housing, dining, etc.).

- Academic Advising. Secure an advising appointment.
  - Even if you have previously met with an advisor during Fall term or if you have already registered for spring classes, you must meet with an academic advisor to reassess your needs in the wake of your Fall 2019 grades.
  - If you were dismissed while in Business, Engineering, Nursing, Architecture, or Education, you will need to meet with a Transition advisor (call 865-974-3523) to work out an academic plan for a new college and program of study. Also, any other students seeking a major change should see a Transition advisor for advising.
  - If you have not been in Business, Engineering, Nursing, Architecture, or Education, and you are continuing in your present major, see your academic advisor.
  - This is a pivotal time in your academic career, a time when you will benefit by giving academic planning the thorough attention it deserves. Advising at this point is not about “getting a schedule” but includes strategic analysis for GPA repair (possibly repeating a course for grade-replacement) and tailoring your program and curricular options in ways that position you for success. For this reason, we want your advising appointment to take place in-person and as soon as possible. Contact your advising office promptly after your conversation with One Stop to schedule your appointment. If you know you will be filing an SAP appeal (see above under “One Stop”), let your advising office know this as you schedule your advising appointment; some offices schedule additional time for the appointment in order to construct the SAP academic plan.

- Registration. Following your academic advising appointment, promptly register for Spring 2020 courses.
o If you had a Spring 2020 schedule and you submitted your enrollment form by January 2nd, many of your courses may have been retained. However, courses within Engineering, Nursing, Business, Architecture, or Education will be removed from the schedules of all dismissed students who were formerly in those colleges. Finally, progression concerns will need to be addressed with your academic advisor to make sure you’ve met prerequisites and are positioned for success for your upcoming classes.

o It is your responsibility to check your course schedule for Spring 2020, and to add classes to obtain a full, well-planned schedule. You must have a full time schedule by January 7th (classes begin January 8th) so that you are positioned for success and ready for the start of classes.

o Registration for students taking advantage of Dismissal Reinstatement will be capped at a maximum of 16 semester hours. While some students express eagerness to load up on courses in order to make up for lost time and “fix things,” the quality of your earned grades is currently far more important than the quantity of your attempted hours.

• Student Success Center. The Student Success Center (SSC) will email you confirmation by January 3rd regarding specific information on your academic support requirements and options. As you plan for a successful Spring 2020 term, you are welcome to meet with an SSC coach this to discuss your own context and challenges, and to begin to design strategies to get off to a great start.

Tuition and Fees, Housing, Dining
• See One Stop for all information on costs, financial aid, and billing.
• As discussed above under “One Stop,” there is no difference between a Dismissal Reinstatement student and any other UT undergraduate student regarding tuition or other costs and options (housing, dining, etc.).

Dates and Deadlines
January 2nd (noon) Submit online Dismissal Reinstatement enrollment form
January 7th Meet with an advisor
January 7th Secure a schedule of Spring 2020 classes
January 23rd Workshop #1, Hodges 213, 4 & 5:30 p.m.
February 3rd Deadline for first coaching appointment or workshop
February 20th Workshop #2, Hodges 213, 4 & 5:30 p.m.
March 2nd Deadline for second coaching appointment or workshop
March 26th Workshop #3, Hodges 213, 4 & 5:30 p.m.
April 1st Deadline for third coaching appointment or workshop
April 13th Workshop #4, Greve 330, 4 & 5:30 p.m.
May 1st Deadline for fourth coaching appointment or workshop

Questions

If you have questions about the Reinstatement program, email them to Doug Renalds at drenalds@utk.edu. Do not hesitate to be in touch with questions or concerns.